PCTI Performing Arts Scores Big at Annual Award Competition

Wayne, NJ – FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE –Performing Arts students of Passaic County Technical Institute (PCTI) recently competed in the Speech and Theatre Association of New Jersey’s Annual Governor’s Award Competition. Five students were recognized for receiving great honors!

Catherine Dvorak took home the top honor at the event when she received the Governor’s Award for Best Actress! Sophomores Isaiah Dequattro and Christie Flores were finalists in the Improvisational Pairs category while juniors Catherine Dvorak, Marquise Figueroa, and Jovan Watlington received 4th place in the Scene category.

Performing Arts Instructor Douglas Smith of Wayne is elated with his students’ accomplishments. “Their great achievements reflect positively on years of hard work and discipline at Passaic County Technical Institute. These students deserve the awards they’ve earned!”

Congratulations to PCTI’s Performing Arts students on their great achievements at the Speech and Theatre Association of New Jersey’s Annual Governor’s Award Competition!
