PCTI is “Jersey Strong”

Wayne, NJ – FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE –Passaic County Technical Institute (PCTI) is pitching in to help those affected by Hurricane Sandy. Students and Staff organized a host of activities to benefit “Jersey Strong”—the NJ Relief fund administered by Mary Pat Christie (wife of Governor Christie). This included a “Blue Jeans Day” for monetary donations and a collection drive to gather much needed supplies. PCTI’s Teen Pep students provided their services in coordinating the collection of donated items. Numerous toiletries, clothes, baby items, and school supplies were gathered and sent to the Church of Visitation in Brick, NJ for distribution. Meanwhile, the Dance Club will devote a portion of the proceeds from their Holiday Dance Concert to benefit the cause.
