Business Students View Theory in Practice with Rewarding Logistics Field Trip

Wayne, NJ – FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE – Business students of Passaic County Technical Institute (PCTI) are getting schooled in the course of Global Logistics/Supply Chain Management, a Career and Technical Education program that presents project-based activities to provide an enriching learning experience. Most recently, select students participated in a field trip to FedEx and the Port of Authority of Newark where they received the opportunity to speak to logistic professionals and see first-hand how products move between locations while maintaining a smooth work flow.

During the job shadowing opportunity, students boarded a cargo plane and learned about the importance of loading and weighting. The group also toured the vast facility and witnessed how the port interacts with the industry to move cargo.

PCTI School of Business2Logistic students Mohamed Yonis, Lilyan Malaki, Madelyn Robles, Mitchell Arango, Zanyjah Riche, Maya Reyna, Rene Ponce de Leon, Saif Ammar, Crystal Salcedo, and Alan Diaz join Instructor Marie Easton in journeying to FedEx and the Port of Authority of Newark as part of a unique Career and Technical Education job shadowing opportunity.
